Dear colleagues,

I am pleased to highly recommend Pavel Vecherin as a highly skilled developer and tester, with whom I had the pleasure of working at SolarLance. During our collaboration, I have witnessed Pavel's professionalism and exceptional technical skills. He demonstrated excellent knowledge of technologies, including PHP and JavaScript, and actively participated in the development and maintenance of our web services and applications.

I would especially like to highlight his contribution to the creation of telemetry collection tools and release management, where he showed deep knowledge and the ability to effectively solve complex technical tasks. Thanks to his work, we were able to more accurately adjust game mechanics, which contributed to increased user retention. Pavel is not only highly qualified but also possesses excellent communication skills, making him a valuable member of the team.

I am confident that his experience and professional qualities will be beneficial in any field of development. If needed, I am happy to provide further information.

Sincerely,

Mikhail Martynovsky
